IN LENGTH.The Procession Nearly Two Hours In Passing—Brilliant Pyrotechnic Display
—The Crowd Estimated at 100,000—
Acknowledged to be the Greatest Political Gathering Ever seen the at State Capital

COLUMBUS, O. Sept. 30.—The opening here Saturday night, of the Democratic state campaign was the greatest political demonstration ever witnessed in this city. The evening was an ideal one and along the entire line of march of the mammoth parade high street was a surging mass of humanity, each seeking to get the best position for observation. No better time could have been selected for the demonstration, for on Saturday night the people of the city invariably flock to high street to see and be seen, and in anticipation of a bigger show than usual on this occasion it seemed that almost the entire population of the city had turned out, irrespective of party affiliations, to witness the greatest campaign effort the Democrats of Ohio ever made. Nobody was disappointed unless it might have been some who had hoped the effort might not be crowned with the success it was.

The parade, which was a glittering line of fire-works and transparencies, was one of the most orderly and well managed ever seen here, and one of which any party or any organization whatsoever might feel proud. It took the procession just one hour to pass a given point, and they would average three abreast. Careful, unbiased observers estimate that the column was three miles long and that there was between 7,000 and 8,000 men in line. A camel was brought up from the zoological garden of Cincinnati and given a position near the head of the procession. Upon its hump was perched a young man of this city, who appeared to enjoy his position. The Randall club

GOVERNOR JAMES E. CAMPBELL, of Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Duckworth club of Cincinnati were the stars of the parade with the odds in any in favor of the Randalls.

The local enthusiasm and determination was demonstrated by the fact that a large portion of those in the parade were city and township clubs of Frank in county which is considered to mean that the Democrats of this county are determined to carry this county for Campbell by a handsome majority. Not only that, but their banners indicated that the city was a glorious victory and to be forgotten. The charge that Senator Bruce was ignored in preparing his transcriptions is a mistake. One banner appeared on one side of which was the senator's portrait and on the other was the following inscription: "What's the matter with Bruce? He's all right."

At the State House yard the parade disbanded, and the claim is made that no such throng as gathered there to hear the speeches ever before crowded onto the state's "iron acres." At the east front, where Mr. Campbell and Mr. Neal spoke, the crowd was

CROSSED IN LOVE

And Took an Overdose of Belladonna
With Suicidal Intent.

BUFFALO, Sept. 30.—Miss Evelyn Holmes, who is the daughter of a prominent Chicago contractor, and who arrived here Friday with her brother, Harry Holmes, is at the house of relatives suffering from an overdose of belladonna, and to have been taken with suicidal intent. Such secrecy has been observed about the case that it has been impossible to learn even the names of her relatives, as she was first treated in a hospital, and then taken away.

It is said that Miss Holmes was sent away from home with her brother on account of a love affair with a clerk in her father's office named James Clark. She met the young man when she drove to the office to see her father, fell in love with him and refused to give him up despite the objections of her parents. It was decided to send her to Buffalo for a long visit with her relatives, in the care of her brother.

They started from Chicago on Thursday night. Holmes had the lower and his sister the upper berth. During the night she took the contents of a two ounce bottle of belladonna. This was not discovered until about noon on Friday, when, as she did not get up her brother tried to wake her. She was suffering severely and the empty bottle was found beside her. As soon as the train reached Buffalo she was driven to the hospital and put under the doctor's care.

STOPPED DRIVEN

Schooners Moonlight and Kent Ashore on Choclay Beach.

MARQUETTE, Mich., Sept. 30.—The steamships Moonlight and the schooners Moonlight and Kent went ashore on the Choclay beach, four miles east of Marquette yesterday, while trying to make this harbor. The schooners were driven high on the sand beach and will weather the storm. The Kent was driven on reef nearly a mile from shore and broke in two in the middle, the bow being washed away. The other half of the boat is still on the rocks, with a furious sea beating against it.

The life-saving crew reached the wreck and took off nine of the crew. When returning to get the other four men of the crew the boat capsized and the life saving crew had a narrow escape from death. When they reached shore half of them were disabled from cold, and one was nearly dead. The boat was so badly damaged as to be disabled. Another boat was manned at the station with part of the life saving crew and the volunteers, who reached the wreck at 2 p. m. and rescued the four men who were in a frail attached to the wreck by a cable and in a perilous position.

Steamship Line

BETWEEN JAPAN AND U. S.

SEATTLE WANTS THE TERMINUS OF THE NEW LINE.

It is claimed that Japanese shipments will employ all the vessels of the company—Japanese will consider a subsidy bill in the interest of the new syndicate.

SEATTLE, Wash., Sept. 30.—A Japanese syndicate is soon to put on a steamship line between Japan and some point on the North Pacific coast, and Seattle is making a strong effort to get the American terminus of the line located here. In a letter to the secretary of the Seattle chamber of commerce, an agent of the syndicate states that the outward transportation and tonnage from Japan will be sufficient to employ all the ships and steamers the company will put on the line, and inquiry is made as to what tonnage from the United States may be expected.

The Japanese diet bill, in October next, consider a subsidy bill which has for its object the extension of navigation to foreign countries. In case of favorable action on this bill, which is thought to be pretty certain, the company will immediately send an agent to this country to determine which is the best port on the North Pacific for this end of the line. The company asks as to the facilities here for handling freight and as to the means of transshipment inland.

Political opinions will not enter into the series.

INSTANTLY KILLED

A Female Aeronaut in California Falls
1,000 Feet.

MONROVIA, Cal., Sept. 30.—An accident occurred here Saturday which resulted in the instant death of Nellie W. Hagel, wife of F. G. Hagel, the aeronaut. The couple have been traveling throughout the state making balloon ascensions and parachute jumps. Mrs. Hagel made an ascent and when at the height of 1,000 feet, she pulled the rope which cut the parachute loose. She shot downward about 100 feet like a flash. The air caught the parachute and it commenced to open, but suddenly it became apparent that she was falling. She came down like a cannon ball. She struck on her back, her head coming in contact with the ground first. Her skull was crushed. Deceased was 33 years of age and a native of Illinois.

ON THE RETIRED LIST

Lieutenant General Schofield Reaches the Age Limit.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—Tomorrow Lieutenant General John McAllister Schofield retires from active service and goes on the retired list, after an eventful career in times of war and peace. For more than seven years he has been in command of the United States army, and since Feb. 8 last he has held the exalted rank of lieutenant general, by special act of congress.

General Schofield was born in Chautauque county, N. Y., Sept. 29, 1831, and was appointed to the naval academy from Illinois in 1849. He graduated at West Point in the same class with Generals Sheridan, McPherson, Sill, Terry and R. O. Tyler and the Confederate general John B. Hood, with whom he afterwards had a number of engagements.

Entering the artillery branch as a second lieutenant in 1854, the outbreak of the war found him a captain of the First artillery in 1861. He was in active service in the west throughout the hostilities and in 1864 was a brigadier general in command of the Army of the Cumberland.

During reconstruction times he was in command of the first military district state of Georgia, for a little over a year and 6 to 10 months was secretary of war under President Johnson from June 2, 1867 to March 14, 1869, in which latter year he became a major general, and after commanding several of the army departments he became commander of the army in 1883 upon the death of General Sheridan.

General Schofield is the last of the veterans of the war who commanded an army or fought a battle himself as such, and the record of his active service in the field is full of brilliant achievements. But in addition to those, he has accomplished in an administrative way matters of such substantial benefit to the army that his reputation might safely rest alone on them.

Under his administration of the army has come an end of the Indian wars, and he is largely responsible for the admirable construction of the posse comitatus laws which have never been disturbed by the courts, and during the great labor strikes of last year it was his wisdom in the administration of these laws that prevented any serious conflict between the national and state authorities while using the army to afford proper protection to national interests.

HEAVY SEAS ON THE LAKE.

Anxiety Felt For the Steamer State of New York.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 30.—A heavy sea was running in the lake here yesterday as a result of the northwest gale and navigation was seriously interfered with. Considerable anxiety was felt for the steamer State of New York, which left Buffalo Saturday night for this port. She was due here at 7 o'clock yesterday morning, but failed to arrive. At 11 o'clock last night the agent of the Cleveland and Buffalo line said the New York had been heard from. She had laid up under Long Point to weather the gale and was expected to arrive in Cleveland about midnight.

A Naval Demonstration Before Nankin to Be Made by a Fleet of England's Warships—Fourteen Days Left in Which China Must Act or War Will Begin.

SHANGHAI, Sept. 30.—Fanning the entire compliance of the central government with the British demands it is understood that a fleet of 14 warships will make a demonstration before Nankin on Tuesday or Wednesday next. The British demand is that within 14 days an edict must be issued degrading the viceroy of Sze Chuen or otherwise the British admiral commanding will act. The wife and family and the treasure of the viceroy of Nankin have been brought to Shanghai for safety. Rich Chinese merchants are coming here from every side seeking shelter.

The British warships Rainbow, Plover, Spartan, Swift and Eolus are at ports on the Yang Tse Kiang river. The Caroline, Unaccounted, Edgar, Archer and Alacarty are at Woo Sung. The Daphne and Firebrand are at Shanghai. The British admiral is on board the Edgar.

London Standard on the Situation.

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Standard says regarding the Chinese situation, "The position of the Chinese government is extremely perilous. It has enough on its hands without a quarrel with England. It is too soon to say that the fall of the Manchu dynasty is imminent, but the news of the spread of the Mohammedan insurrection in the province of Khat Su is alarming. The British demands must be supported by the presence of our fleet in the Yang Tse Kiang, if not by the occupation of Nankin. We doubt if the Manchu dynasty could survive such a shock if the Mohammedans of the west find a leader, and if at the same time the imperial government is rash enough to defy the western powers, a revolution is inevitable."

Fire in a Spinning Mill.

What the Times Thinks On

LONDON, Sept. 30.—The Times dwells upon China being a huge and north house whose friendship is not worth cultivating by feeble concessions to her pretensions and pride. "What we want done," The Times continues, "we must insist upon having done, not by futile representations to Peking, but by going to the spot in question and seeing it done ourselves."

WORTH TRYING FOR.

But a Clause in the Will May Knock Him Out.

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 30.—It is stated that Jesse Potter, the son of Mr. Charles Lux, will attempt to secure the $4,000,000 estate left by his mother. When the widow of the cattle king died her estate consisted almost entirely of a one-quarter interest in the cattle firm of Miller & Lux. She left $100,000 to her son and a number of smaller bequests to relatives and charities. The remainder, amounting to over $3,000,000, was left in trust, the income to be paid Jesse Potter during his life. When Potter dies the estate is to be divided between his son and two of Mr. Lux's sisters. A clause in the will provides that in case any legatee contests the will he shall forfeit his legacy.

W. R. McHAFFEY, P. M.

In a recent letter to the manufacturer Mr. W. R. Benjamin, editor of the Spectator, Rushford, N. Y., says: "It may be a pleasure to you to know the high esteem in which Chamberlain's medicines are held by the people of your own state, where they must be best known. An aunt of mine, who resides at Dexter, Iowa, was about to visit me a few years since, and before leaving home wrote me, asking if they were sold here, stating if they were not she would bring a quantity with her, as she did not like to be without them." The medicines referred to are Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, famous for its cures of colds and croup; Chamberlain's Pain Balm for rheumatism, lame back, pains in the side and chest, and Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for bowel complaints. These medicines have been in constant use in Iowa for almost a quarter of a century. The people have learned that they are articles of great worth and merit, and unequaled by any other. They are for sale here by Melville Bros., next to postoffice, and C. W. Heister, 58 public square.

Its Value Recognized by Physicians.

As a rule I am opposed to proprietary medicines. Still I value a good one, especially when such is the source of relief from pain. As a topical (external) application I have found Chamberlain's Pain Balm the best remedy I have ever used for neuralgia of any kind. I have conscientiously recommended it to many persons. ### OIL AND GAS.

ROCKFORD OIL NEWS.

The work on the Marks well is going on at a lively rate and will soon be to the lime rock. Drilling was commenced at the Eckhart well, north of town, Wednesday.

The drill was started on the Smith well, northeast of town, Thursday.

The owners of the Henderson well deemed it best to abandon the same and drill a new well rather than expend an amount of money sufficient to make a new well in trying to recover lost tools.—Rockford Press.

SPENCERVILLE OIL NEWS.

Joseph & Co.'s No. 1, German farm, section 15, Spencer township, is good for three barrels—practically nothing.

Goodkind's No. 2 on the Geyser farm, near the sulphur springs, was completed Monday. It will make a light well. Lots of salt water was encountered.

Elcho Oil Co. and John F. Black well No. 2 on the Van Emon farm, southwest of Elgin, was shot Tuesday with 120 quarts. It made a fine showing.

Kling, Morvillous & Jones shot their No. 3 on the Miller farm, west of Monticello, Saturday, with 120 quarts. It made a fine showing. They are at work on their No. 4.

Wash Goodwin got a pretty fair well on his farm, a mile west of Monticello, last week. It contained but 75 feet of fluid before the shot; but a 200-quart emetic made the stuff come.

The Ohio Oil company's No. 4, Kill farm, section 22, Spencer township, is good for nothing as a producer. Same company's No. 2, Morgan farm, section 21, Jennings township, is good for 15 barrels.

The oil producers of Indiana will meet at Montpelier, October 1. They wish to place their product on par with the Ohio crude. If their proposition is not accepted by the Standard Oil company they threaten to stop drilling and pumping.

E. J. Wilson & Co., of Bolivar, N. Y., completed their No. 1 on the Robinson farm in Jennings township, Van Wert county, last Saturday, and shot it with 165 quarts. The Trenton was entered to the extent of 38 feet. There was 500 feet of oil in the hole when it was shot.—Spencerville Journal.

That Tired Feeling

Is a common complaint and it is a dangerous symptom. It means that the system is debilitated because of impure blood, and in this condition it is especially liable to attacks of disease. Hood's Sarsaparilla is the remedy for this condition, and also for that weakness which prevails at the change of season; climate or life.

Hood's Pills act easily yet promptly and efficiently on the bowels and liver. 25c.

His Account With His Dentist.

Brown has the reputation of being one of the most miserly of men, but he plagues himself on his inexorable sense of justice. For 15 years he owed a dentist $23 for filling a front tooth with gold, refusing to pay it because he said the bill was exorbitant. The other day the filling came out. He took the gold to a jewelry store and had it valued. Then he wrote to the dentist and inclosed a check for his account, based on the following computation: "Actual value of the gold, $3.50; amount of labor (which I deem liberal), $5; for use of the tooth 15 years, $5; total, $13.50. I return gold on account and inclose check for the balance, $10."—Washington Post.

THE FASHION PLATE.

A dainty little bonnet is of puffed chiffon over a passementerie edge. The crown is of passementerie, and the trimming is of ostrich tips.

Head garniture of a rich and elaborate sort is becoming a rage. There is no handsomer trimming made, and it rarely stays out of favor for any length of time.

Wraps to wear over bathing costumes are made of any sort of fancy plaid. Heavy material is preferable, as it stays in place much better and is more manageable.

A stylish cape is of accordion plaited clairrette, with stripes of very elaborate and handsome brocade ribbon. These stripes run from the collar to the lower edge of the garment.

The little close bonnet fitting the head and occupying but little more space than a headress is much liked. A handsome model is made of box plaited velvet, with three full ostrich tips.

Velvet sleeves and soft belts are worn with dresses of extremely thin material. A dress of embroidered chiffon over silk has enormous puffs of velvet for sleeves and a soft belt set on in corsalet fashion.

A stylish waist is made of taffeta in shepherd's plaid. The front is in blouse fashion, with plaits from the very narrow yoke. A long point of lace is sewed down each of those plaits to the bust. There is a lace collar and a standing ruffing of the taffeta. The sleeves are very large, with taffeta ruffles below the elbows.—New York Ledger.

STAGE GLINTS.

Herrmann, the magician, has become a life member of the Actors' fund.

Joseph Holland is 85, and has been on the stage 17 years. His first appearance was in "Henry V."

Russ Whytal is at work on a new comedy for himself and Mrs. Whytal, written upon the same lines as "Agatha Dene."

John Armstrong, once a well known actor, but who has been off the stage for about seven years, is now in the ministry.

Will H. Sloan, late of E. E. Rice's forces, has been engaged by Joseph Hart to play the opposite comedy part in "A Gay Old Boy."

"The Greatest of These" is the title of a new play which Sydney Grundy has written for the Kendals. They will produce it in England.

John Hare, who is to come to America to present "A Pair of Spectacles" and "The Notorious Mrs. Ebbesmith," will bring his own company and scenery.

The new play which William H. Crane will produce about Jan. 1 has been written to order by Franklin Fyles, who has just delivered the completed manuscript.

It isn't every actor purchases the home of a president of the United States. Thomas Keane, however, has just become the owner of the house that President Tyler lived in on Staten Island.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

A man must become wise at his own expense.—Montaigne.

Ungratefulness is the very poison of mankind.—Sir P. Sidney.

The mind conceives with pain, but it brings forth with delight.—Joubert.

All are born to observe good order, but few are born to establish it.—Joubert.

How true it is there can be no tete-a-tete where vanity reigns.—Mme. de Girardin.

Unless a tree has borne blossoms in spring you will vainly look for fruit on it in autumn.—Hare.

Do what good thou canst unknown, and be not vain of what ought rather to be felt than seen.—William Penn.

GREAT MEN'S READING.

Chopin rarely read anything heavier than a French novel.

Lord Clive said that "Robinson Crusoe" beat any book he ever read.

St. John Chrysostom never tired of reading or of praising the works of the Apostle John.

James I of England was a lover of the classics and very familiar with most of the Latin writers.

Bunyan read little besides his Bible, and often said that Christians would do well to read no other book.

Salvator Rosa liked any kind of poetry, but more especially that relating to the country or to country scenes.

Mrs. Siddons gave much attention to the history of the drama and had an extensive library of this kind of matter.

Hume said that Tacitus was the ablest writer that ever lived and himself tried to model his style on that of the Roman historian.

Locke gave most of his attention to works of philosophy. He said, "I stand amazed at the profundity of thought shown by Aristotle."

The elder Pitt liked Shakespeare, but not the labor of reading plays. He enjoyed hearing them and once said that he had learned more English history at the theater than at the university.

Shelley read with close attention all the works he could find antagonizing Christianity. He thought he was an atheist, but was mistaken, as there is not a more spiritual writer in our language than he. He read the Bible with great care, and some of his finest imagery is borrowed from its pages.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Her Choice.

A woman who has traveled largely in Japan mentioned in the course of a lecture the fact that the Japanese language does not contain an impolite word; hence there is no wearing in that happy land. She also stated that occlusion was an unknown pleasure. As the audience dispersed, commenting favorably upon different points, an old woman remarked in a voice loud enough to be heard by all, "Well, for my part, I prefer a country where they kiss and cuss!"—Atlanta Constitution.

The Diamond.

None can tell where the diamond goes to in combustion. Burn it, and it leaves no ash, the flame is exterior like that of a cork, and when it has blazed itself out there remains not even so much as would dust the antennae of a butterfly.

At Gibraltar, during the most famous of its sieges, the French commander, learning that Elliot's men were suffering from scurvy, sent them as a present a boatload of carrots.

Dreamland is located in the lottery office.—Florida Times-Opinion.

✧ Our Souvenirs are Beautiful and Useful and Our Own Importation. ✧

We are going to inaugurate a new idea in serving the public in this Fall's Grand Opening which will avoid the crowding and jamming and at the same time give every one an opportunity to inspect our stock, listen to the sweet music, and take their own time and make themselves at home with us. As we have had the experience in our past openings, the above methods would be more satisfactory to the public, instead of being so jammed that it is impossible for any one to enjoy the sweet music or give them an opportunity to inspect our stock or see the interior of our store.

On these four opening days, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, we are going to give to each person purchasing One Dollar's worth of Merchandise or over a beautiful and useful Souvenir, every one worth the amount of the purchase you have to make. We do this to avoid the crowds and jams of former openings.

Everybody welcome, whether you wish to purchase or not, come anyway and listen to the sweet music and see the beautiful decorations, a perfect wilderness of flowers which will make our store a palace of beauty. Remember the dates. Wednesday, October 2nd; Thursday, October 3rd; Friday, October 4th, and Saturday October 5th.

INTO A MUSS

Sherman Will Get if He Attempts to Take Instructor Away.

There has been some talk lately of Captain J. N. Morgan, the military instructor at the Ada Normal University, being transferred to Wooster, thus breaking up Ada's crack military organization. Senator Sherman is working up this scheme and Senator Brice is strongly opposing it. As soon as Prof. Lehr, of Ada, learned of the scheme he wired Brice, who replied that the move wouldn't be made if he could prevent it. The Ada people will make a strong kick against the move, but the chances are that Sherman will win his point. The University Herald, of Ada, the O. N. U. organ, says, in commenting on the matter:

"We honor John Sherman for his service to his country, but if he is instrumental in removing our excellent military department, without sufficient reasons for his action, we will not shed crocodile tears over his grave, politically and otherwise."—Kenton News

RAIL CLUB DISBANES.

The Lima Team is no More.—Saturday's Game.

The base ball season in this city has closed, the Lima club having disbanded Saturday evening, and the game with Terre Haute yesterday, which was to close the season, was not played, owing to the cold weather.

Paurot, Detsel and Miller will probably play with Terre Haute next year.

The game between Lima and Terre Haute Saturday afternoon resulted in a score of 11 to 4. Up to the sixth inning Lima, was two scores ahead. Torro Haute piled up four runs on a fly ball pounded fully ten feet outside the foul line. There was such a kick that he was retired. The Lima men were demoralized by the rank decision and could not overtake the Hoosiers.

BAYLIFF IS READY

But Kenny is The Man Who Don't Want To Fight.

An Athletic Club at Kenton Has Arranged for the Battle to Take Place There.

It looks as though the Bayliff-Kenny mill would again be a flunk. A letter was received from "Yank" Kennedy this morning stating that he wouldn't fight but for a purse of $1,000. He first agreed to $500 but the Kenton sports went one better and offered $800. Now he asks a thousand and the local talent won't stand his bluffing tactics any longer. It is very evident that Kennedy won't fight unless the mill is pulled off near Toledo. He belongs to the Toledo Athletic Club and of course wants all the money to be brought up in that direction.

LATER—A telegram was sent to Kennedy this afternoon informing him that if he wanted to come here and fight for $600, all right. If not, Bayliff will go to Cleveland and fight for $800. Otherwise there will be no fight.—Kenton News.

FOUND IN THE YARDS

M. J. Higgins, With a Foot Crushed, Tells a Queer Story.

Early this morning a man was found in the C. H. & D. yards with his left foot and ankle badly crushed and almost insensible from cold, pain and loss of blood. He was directly in need of surgical attention but he was taken to the Station House to await the arrival of Dr. Barker, who came some hours later, after which he was removed to St. Elizabeth hospital.

The man gave the name of M. J. Higgins, and said that he was run over by a train yesterday at Lima, O. The character of the injury to the foot and ankle, however, do not wholly bear out the assertion. On the contrary, the leg looks as though it had been pinched between the bumpers.—Dayton Press.

STREET TALK.

George Marsh, owner of the Eagle stove works at Belmore, which were recently destroyed by fire, was in the city this morning, and stated the works would not be rebuilt. The loss was total, and, owing to the scarcity of timber in that part of the country, another factory will not be built.

According to the schedule of holding Circuit Court next year, April 14th and Nov. 24th are the dates for this county.

Residents in the Southern part of Kenton are agitated over a ghost. It has been seen by several belated pedestrians as it meanders to and fro in its white garments. It usually takes its rambles about 10 o'clock at night and hundreds claim to have seen it.

Saturday afternoon a mortgage calling for $400,000 against the Lima Northern railway was left at recorder Harrod's office. It was given by the railroad company to the Central Trust company of New York City.

A wildcat well on the Edmond farm seven miles south of this city, in which L. H. Shreve is interested, was expected to be drilled in this afternoon.

Ed. Andrews will leave for Springfield to-morrow morning to accept a position on the Ohio Southern. This will be only the second railroad position Mr. Andrews ever filled. Although he has been a railroad man for many years, his entire experience from switching and braking to running freight and passenger trains was all on the C. & E. During the world's fair he became quite a popular passenger conductor and during his entire life in railroad service he was never injured and never had a serious train accident.

The Democratic Senatorial Convention for the 32nd district will be held at Bryan to-morrow. A number of Lima people left on the afternoon train to-day for Bryan and others will go to-night.

The government building will to-morrow morning be turned over to postmaster Mehahey as custodian, by Henry Blosser, superintendent of construction. It is all complete but the post office department will not occupy it until a week from to-day.

WILSON BOUND OVER.

He Could Not Give Bail, and is in the City Prison.

Del Wilson, who was brought here from Toledo last week, being wanted upon a charge of having attempted a criminal assault upon Jane Lacey, was taken before Justice Atmure this morning for a preliminary hearing of the case.

After the evidence was taken he was bound over to common pleas court and his bond placed at $300. He could not furnish bail and was again locked up in the city prison. The case will be given a re-examination in probate court in a few days.

AMUSEMENTS THIS WEEK.

SUCCESS OF "THE RAINMAKERS."

The success which followed the appearance of Donnelly and Girard in New York, in "The Rainmakers," at the Park theater, New York, is still the talk of the Rialto. The comedy was new to New Yorkers, but after the opening night the great theater was crowded to the doors at every performance, and on dozens of evenings standing room could not be had after 8:30 o'clock. The bright, catchy songs, the brilliant music and absolutely novel specialties were a revelation to the patrons of the season in the metropolis, beyond peradventure of a doubt. In the company are such artists as Ross and Fenton ("The Travesty Stars"), the Rogers Brothers ("German Comedians"), Imro Fox ("The Comic Conjuror"), Maud Raymond ("A Petite and Versatile Sourette"), Jessie Gardner, Florence Clarke, Grace Langley, Ada Mansfield, May Warren and Donnelly and Girard, and other equally capable people.

ENGLISH FOLLY COMPANY.

Always on the alert to give his patrons the very best that can be obtained in the amusement line, Manager Livermore has booked Rice and Barton's Rose Hill English Folly Company as the attraction at the opera house Wednesday evening, Oct. 2nd. This organization has long been known from one end of the United States to the other.

The entertainment will commence with a new and novel burlesque entitled "A Trip to Newport," which will consist of solos, duets, quartettes and comedy effusions. This will conclude with a medley of musical gems.

Among the specialties are Miss Clara Lawrence, who will execute various selections on cornet, bugle, slide-cornet and saxophone; Crawford and Manning, comedy delineators of negro character and knockabout grotesque; J. Herbert Mack, descriptive singer and recitatorialist; Van and Leaky, sketch artists of a high order of merit.

GENERAL MANAGER

Appointed for the Ohio Southern Railway.

A. S. Dunham is the Man.—B. W. Fenton Made Chief Engineer and J. Dugal Traveling Auditor—Railroad News.

Taking effect to-morrow, October 1st, a new office will be created on the Ohio Southern railroad. It will be that of a general manager, and Mr. A. S. Dunham has been appointed. All matters pertaining to the operative department will be referred hereafter to him. His headquarters will be in Springfield.

Along with the appointment of Mr. Dunham comes the appointment of Mr. B. W. Fenton chief engineer. His headquarters will be in this city. J. Dugal will also take the position of traveling auditor to-morrow and make his headquarters in this city.

NOTHING IN IT.

Grandmaster Sargeant, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, says he has no information whatever of any purpose on the part of the Wabash railroad to get rid of brotherhood members and puts no credence in the report. He says the Wabash would be very foolish to attempt anything of the kind and has no excuse for it. He calls attention to the fact that during the A. R. U. strike these organizations refused to join it. And, therefore, the Wabash and other roads ought to feel good to them. He declared emphatically that all efforts to crush these old line organizations would be in vain. The members, as a rule, acted like honorable men and they should not be held responsible for any mistakes a few individual members might make.

NOTES.

There has been a decided increase in business on the C. & E. during the past week.

Night operator Will McGrievy, of the P. Ft. W. & C., was in Dunkirk Saturday afternoon.

It is understood that there will be some new officials appointed for the Ohio Southern the first of October.

Pat Kearney, of Lima, is a new C. & E. boiler maker who commenced work Friday.—Huntington Democrat.

Chas Wooman, who was employed by the Lima Telephone Co. all summer, has taken a position as brakeman on the L. E. & W.

Engineer M. C. Rickets, of the L. E. & W., has returned from Green Springs, Ohio, where he spent the last three weeks recuperating.

Machinist Cullen went to Lima Friday noon to take Machinist Wise's place, he being called home on account of the illness of his wife.—Huntington Democrat.

General yardmaster Harry E. Conover, of the C. & E., has resumed his duties after a few days vacation. Acting yardmaster Long resumed charge of engine 419 and crew.

Paris Green a Drug In the Market.

There are all the way from 40 to 50 tons of paris green lying uncolored for in the warehouses of the wholesale drug houses of the city. The reason for this monumental display of idleness is that there are no potato bugs this summer. This is only comparatively true. There are a few potato bugs, but the number has been small. As a result of the disappearance of the bugs the farmers of Minnesota have not only been saved the expense of $25,000 for the first cost of the paris green, but the labor of putting it on. And the crop will be far better and larger. Potatoes will be cheap this fall—cheaper, perhaps, than at any time in the history of the business in the northwest. It is more than probable that a big business in shipping potatoes will grow up in Minneapolis and the northwest this season.—Minneapolis Tribune.

The Indomitable Man.

Genius is really only the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it—so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience, would have achieved success! As the tide goes clear out, so it comes clear in. In business, sometimes, prospects may seem darkest when really they are on the turn. A little more persistence, a little more effort, and what seemed hopeless failure may turn to glorious success. There is no failure except in no longer trying. There is no defeat except from within, no really insurmountable barrier save our own inherent weakness of purpose.—Electrical Review.

MORTALLY WOUNDED.

Carleville Saloon Kipper Shot by a Drunken Drayman.

CINCINNATI, O., Sept. 30.—Jerome Cave was shot and mortally wounded in his saloon by a drayman named John Lust about 5 o'clock Saturday evening. Lust was drunk and quarrelsome, and engaged in a dispute with Cave over a game of dice, which ended in blows. Lust was almost knocked out with a blow over the head from a bottle, and ejected from the saloon. He started homeward muttering vengeance. He returned almost immediately, armed with a shotgun, and pointing it directly at Cave, fired, the contents taking effect in the latter's neck and shoulders. He then directed his aim at Mike Keistadt, but he ducked under the counter and escaped. Lust was arrested after some resistance by Officers Young and McManamy. The wounded man was taken to his home, where his life is despaired of. Cave bought the saloon only last Monday.

THE GREEN-EYED MONSTER

Causes a Shooting Scrape in the Town of Washington C. H.

WASHINGTON C. H., O., Sept. 30.—Lida Hargrave of this place shot and badly wounded Daisy Redman of Columbus here late Saturday night. Miss Redman and Miss Hargrave attended a festival last evening. A young man who had been paying attentions to Miss Hargrave started to accompany Miss Redman home. This aroused the jealousy of Miss Hargrave, she procured a revolver, followed the couple and shot Miss Redman in the shoulder. The girl was arrested late at night at her home.

Another Saloon Scrape.

MASSILLON, O., Sept. 30.—Godfrey Manz and his son Edward engaged in a fight in the latter's saloon Saturday. The father drew a revolver and fired point blank at his son, but missed. Edward Manz gained possession of the weapon, when bystanders interfered. They had been wrangling for several days.

FASHION.

What Miss Geraldine, Miss Dorothy and Brother Wear to the Party.

Little Miss Geraldine and Miss Dorothy have had their pictures taken in their party frocks. She is just 12 years old, is Miss Geraldine, and looks very much like a woman. Her pretty frock is a very light pink and a soft silk and tulle mixture. The skirt, which is pretty full, reaches to a little below her knee. Her bodice, which fastens in the back, has a loose blouse front coming from under a broad guimpe, made of white embroidery and butter Valenciennes insertion in alternate stripes and having for its edge a deep full ruffle of the lace.

The full sleeves are drawn in to cuffs of the material overlaid with lace and embroidered cuffs. About the waist is a sash ribbon of butter colored satin, a similar ribbon is around the neck in stock fashion, and the long blond hair, which falls loose, is drawn back and confined by a narrow ribbon of the same color.

The stockings are black silk and the slippers patent leather, with large quaint steel buckles. Gloves? Oh, dear, no! Jewelry? Well, not to speak of, though Geraldine does wear about her neck a little chain with a heart pendant, says The Ladies' Home Journal, which portrays these prettily clad young folks.

Dorothy, who is only 8, is also to go to the party, and while she looks very smart her gown is a simple one too. The material is fine dotted muslin. The skirt, which reaches below her knees and is a bit longer than Geraldine's, is laid in a double box plait at each side of the front.

Midway of each box plait is a cluster of loops of ribbon of a pale blue shade. In the back the box plaits flare.

The bodice is laid in soft plaits from neck to waist, and the flaring collar and revers are of butter lace, edged with a wide frill. A narrow frill of lace is the edge finish, and a knot of blue ribbon is on each a short distance above the wrist. The stockings and shoes are black, and the sash ribbon is pale blue like the knots on the frock. When Charles II was a little boy, he wore his hair just as this little girl does today, hanging loose, framing his face and with the ends just turned.

Brother, we are told by The Journal, is 14 years old and has attained the dignity of wearing just such a suit as his English cousin. It is black cloth with the rough surface that is seen in the material used for grown up evening clothes. His trousers are the proper width and show a slight but not too pronounced crease. His waistcoat is out low, and over it he wears an Eton jacket of black cloth that is accentuated by the deep white linen collar which turns over it, and which is attached, like his cuffs, to his immaculate white shirt.

Brother seems all jewelry but a little watch and the white enamel buttons that are in his shirt. His silk hat has a lower and a somewhat broader crown than that made for an older gentleman.

A suit like this is worn by a boy from the time he is 12 until he is 18, and then he is supposed to assume the regulation evening dress worn by men.

The Coming Sleeve.

While looking at autumn and winter models a Paris correspondent of the New York Tribune was strongly impressed by the sleeves. They could only be described as moderate in size and conservative in shape. When one considers that the sleeves of the gowns shown last spring were extremely large and fanciful, this diminution counts for a great deal and portends a radical departure in this direction.

Some of the new sleeves are gored in shape, while many show one puff to the elbow, with the high, straight cuff below. With the exception of the cuff these sleeves are generally one color and material, and often the cuff is of the same stuff.

TRIAL BY WATER.

moon Noah Capel and Thomas Bullseye laid down their trunks and their buckets of pitch, and making their way the narrow path to the Three Pilechas sat there in the sun on the beach at the edge of the cliff garden and ate their pasties and drank from their mugs, sober in wide eyed silence, looking across the water with trains inactive and mastification slow. And in summer, indeed, might they have until the dinner hour was over had a movement on the beach below caught Noah Capel's eye and enticed his mind toward mundane matters. This had occurred, he staved for many moments at the cusp of his awakening, then, chinked heavily once or twice, and ranging the corner of his pasty in side of his cheek made way for speech.

"That's Peter Tod's maid down piling about their boats," he volunteered in food muffled tones.

"Aw," growled Thomas Bullseye.

"Yes, an a fine handful too. Pe-

"There was always a sight of devilment in that there girl," quoth Thomas Bullissy slowly, "but 'er's got a pure face."

Together the youths looked down on the girl in question, and truly 't was good to look upon, either for cause or in spite of the devilment which lay in her. Her face was short and round; her eyes were golden brown, but lazily opened; her cheeks were warmed by the sun, and her nose flicked by that same power; her head was a mop of short brown curls, and her blue frock well became her very shapely form.

As she passed slowly inland, under the shadow of the cliff and out of sight, the youths shifted a trifle on the bench and looked at one another.

"'Tis a brave looking maid, 't enough," decided Thomas Bullissy again. "I've a mind to do a bit of cooing in that quarter."

"Aw," grinned Noah Capel, "you're too late, my dear soul. I'm a-goin' to a bit that way in self."

ox eyes in wonderment. "Why, law how long's the maid been 'ome?"

"You began yer courtin' pretty slyly, then."

"Well, I 'aven' begun yet, as might say, but I'd a-made up my mind."

"Aw, well, then," declared Thomas Bultsey, "I'm so good a chap as to let best man win."

But Noah Capel seemed not wholly pleased with the arrangement. "You never a-seen her if I 'adn' a-pointed her out," he grumbled.

It was Thomas Bultsey who chafed now. "But I've a-seen her, 'avens Eeff you can cut me out, do it."

"I don't see no 'ushion to grizzle."

keepin' company with a giglet like Tod," declared Noah Capel, with a strength

Thomas Bulley's grin drew him from the corners of his mouth as he sentimentally placed his mug both side up upon the bench.

"Well," he said at last, "I don't want no bally-vragging 'bout the matter. Us'll toss for the maid an settin' fair."

Nonh Capei still looked glum, but after some slow thought he decided his chance was worth the taking, so he took it, and Thomas Bulley, drawing a penny from the far corner of his tian pocket, heaved it in the air.

There were full five minutes spent in vain seeking for the coin. These gamblers slowly rose again, their backs toward the sea. Then they sat down strove to smile. Just below them, ledge of the cliff, sat Ann Tod, her hands on her knees and her chin in there was a question uncomfortably certain in the minds of Noah Capel and Thomas Bullasy.

she, being more clear of conscience therefore self possessed, spoke first.

There was silence again for a minute, and then Thomas Bollys gied, and then he trusted to the help of the situation and answered bold "Nutter of us. Us'll try agen, though."

"I wouldn't try agen," said Ann soberly. "A penny's a penny, an the no use wastin' money 'bout the matter."

Then she ceased being sober and smiled up at them with allurement her half closed eyes.

"I'll settle it," she declared. "

"Will 'ee take me to it?" asked N. Nuch Tled.

"Blessed be you, I'm glad to be in the boat," said Ann Tod, "but I have way round."

"Aw, you little devil!" cried the sa Bulley again, variety of expressions flashing from his mouth. "I'd like have my foot on land. I'd like to be kulkuk."

"Jas, my dear, I thought you'd made up your mind by time we got to Agred Ann Tod." And then she grasped her gun again and rowed out toward sea, and the lovers sat inactive in little boat as it bubbled over the waves and sickened of the sight of water.

It had been scarce 1 o'clock when Tod left Trademack beach. It was raining 7 when she pulled toward the shore once more, and the sun was growing rudely and the waters touched with On their voyage they had passed many habitations, and great was the wealth of badinage which had floated to greet them. Now, as they drew up land at last, it was borne in upon the young folk that here also loomed another audience, and the wrath within their hearts grew fiercer.

Then from the shore there came a of fierce upbraidings, and Ann Tod perceived the voice of Peter her father.

At first the words were indistinguishable, but Peter Tod being wont to "make prayer" at chapel, could hear

"Gurl, gurl," he thundered as he shook his fist at Ann Tod's straining shoulders, "must a second Titus cast upon this earth to teach young wimmen to be sober and homekeepin'! Such transgressions should be set to right with the rod, an such brazen faced ingrates with stripes. There's that lumberin' great hoo ferry bin across that threshold of water 14 times fer 15 blessed manns, mostly infants, in less than a dozen hours."

But Ann Tod only laughed a little quite softly.

"All this blessed afternoon has been a wastin' space with that gaffin cattle shed, till my back's been broken, while you, child of unreasonableness—"

"Law, father, I'm a bit weary, well don't myself," confessed Ann as her head ground on the bench, "I've a bin pullin' round this old mill yours for nigh 'pon six hours on a day of mercy."

Then she uttered in the very teeth of her father's wrath, while Noah Cullen and Thomas Ballast sat glumly in a little boat as it gently rose and fell on the water. Then the novelty of some diverted the onlookers, and she "hushed" in sympathy.

"What've 'ee bin up to, Ann Tod?" queried a stout fishwife as she held her sides and cringed.

quoth Ann Tod.

"Decidin, 'ave 'ee? You've took time 'bout it, I mus say. An wha 'ee bin a-decidin of?"

"They two young chaps was power disturbed in their minds 'bout w'as was most set on courtin me, so as I went out on the water to think it over like. 'Ave 'ee made up yer mind?' 'ee think?" she called to the lovers they bobbed upon the stream.

"Dunn you, you young vixen!" answered Thomas Bullsey, goaded to strong language.

"I pry the chap what goes a-courtin' you," volunteered Noah Capel, struggling to be civil.

"You can tell 'em that yerself, Mister Capel," laughed Ann Tod, "fer I a-comin all the way from Yarmouth town to take me out some Sunday." She was blowing a resounding kiss from her trembling fingers so turned from the water's edge and abandoned herself to the reasonable wrath of her sibs.

"Mister Luckey was'n aware as w'as a needin of a sea voyage fer his 'ealth," called a grinning youth from shore to the frowning youths in the boat.

"'Ee was wisht to think as you was forced to leave a-cankin of his voice," 'ee said as ow 'ee was feared you too fragile fer such as 'ee."

But when the chuckling crowd

"Old Peter's got his 'sands fur that there maid," grinned the idler they watched the couples up the

the singin' of 'is ps'ma'."

Which went to show that p

he spoke of "devilmint" in connec with Ann Tod.—Speaker.

of this must be apparent to those who are competent to consider the artistic kind of thing which constitutes Stevensonian style. It is plain that it could not be produced by a man who had to write for his living. In Stevenson's early days of essay writing for Cornhill an essay would cost him a whole month's hard, close application.

CARROLL & COONEY.

Fur Opening!

All day Wednesday Mr. Robinson will be with us showing the Dupon & Newland Fur Co's line of Fur garments.

We have seen the line and can say they are stylish, well made nicely finished goods at reasonable prices. More than that, Mr. Robinson has been in the Fur business all his life; he knows Furs. We know him, and we are here to stand by any statement he makes and every garment he sells in our store.

Knit Goods!

The low prices put on the Knit Goods received last week astonishes clerks and customers. No one ever saw a better Tongs at 75c than those we are now selling at a quarter. Wool Fascinators, larger and better than were sold here at 50c, for 39c Ladies' Knit Underskirts at 39c to $1.19 each. Couldn't sell them at these prices if we had to buy them from the wholesale houses. Bought these at the factories, and we are retailing them at wholesale prices.
